TAGA Harmony Platinum B-40 SE v.2 bookshelf speakers: a rave review by AudioMuzoFans – an audio portal and a specialized audio group on Facebook (11-2016).

...have their charm, they create a very nice aura and make that you can listen music for hours.

Listening

At the beginning it is worth to mention about our testing room. It is quite a big (around 30sqm) room, partially acoustically treated. Why do we mention about that? Because the Platinum excellently managed to fill it with the sound...

We were much surprised by the effect we heard. The sound was saturated and dynamic, such an effect could be rather expected from much bigger constructions. Setting up the speakers is very convenient and does not require too much effort. The bassreflex port is located at the front and positioning of the speakers is not so much crucial like in case of speakers utilizing a rear-mounted port. It is important for audiophiles, who cannot place their Platinum in any position in the room... All kind of "obstructions" in high registries are well perceptible, they have their place in the soundstage, there is no problem to distinguish which are placed closer and which further. Mids are slightly withdrawn, but not dry. They contain a sufficient amount of material. They have their charm, they create a very nice aura and make that you can listen music for hours. For us it is a very big advantage, as we do like to spend a good amount of time with music 😊

Voices sound natural, they are not colored...The speakers are able to present diversity of recorded material without losing anything of the dynamics...the bass is quick and punctual. We would call the whole performance as rather smooth sound, addressed to people who demand versatility from their speakers.

Overall rating

Taga Harmony continues to deliver products which from the quality and workmanship point of view without a problem can compete with more expensive products, what nowadays is a huge advantage. What's more, combined with good sound, we get a complete product, with the company's sound style, which allows us to claim that the company's strategy is implemented consistently and as planned. The B-40es thanks to their sound, give us the opportunity to listen to music for hours without tiring our ears. In our opinion, this is a great advantage, because as previously mentioned, we love to listen to music for hours...
