“Stereo i Kolorowo – Underground” on-line magazine just published a fantastic review of TAGA Harmony Azure S-40 v.2 bookshelf speakers.

Listening impressions

“...they play with their whole body, with full engagement, without leaving even a fragment of unused cabinet space or drivers’ diaphragm. You can feel their eagerness to music, to rhythm, to sing. However, the sound they produce is surprisingly homogeneous - free and alive, but one hundred percent harmonious. The monitors disperse sound nuances and distribute its details in a charmingly scrupulous way, embedding them very convincingly in the space. There is a great dynamics and a palpable and massive sound. It is a fresh, rich and musical sound. Well composed.”

Conclusion

“I’m impressed by the small Azure S-40 v.2”
